HERITAGE DOORS
Collection

The Heritage Door Collection offers stylish, timber composite entrance doors with strength, durability and superior thermal insulation. The Collection brings together Blairs knowledge and experience spanning over 100 years alongside the accuracy and precision of modern manufacturing technologies.

Not only do our doors deliver exceptional strength and prolonged lifespan, they also provide considerable practicality that serves long-term safety and security for your home - a great choice for both modern and traditional homes.

Our door sets also come fully assembled with the frame, door, glazing, locks and handles intact - allowing for fast and easy installation, keeping fixing costs to a minimum and helping to expedite the construction process. All our products proudly hold the Made in Britain trademark.

The range is available in a wide variety of colours such as:

Printed colour may vary from composite swatch colour. Please refer to swatch, or RAL booklet.

CONSTRUCTION & MATERIALS

The Heritage Door Collection is manufactured using state of the art CNC production machinery, producing timber composite doors. Our composite timber doors consist of a timber frame fused with a single leaf, bolstered with layers of high-quality engineering timber, an insulating layer of rigid polystyrene foam, and fortified with a backing of aluminium.

Together, this combination of materials gives enhanced strength and durability to the doors, whilst improving its reliability and thermal performance all year round.
